OPERATIONS

Version 20251228

SCRIPTED OPERATIONS

War rages across the stars. Squads clash in ruined cities, cursed temples, alien jungles, and forgotten fortresses. Yet not every battle is random. Some are part of carefully planned operations, chains of missions where each outcome shapes the next, where victory builds momentum, and defeat forces desperate gambits.

This section collects a series of tailor-made mini-campaigns for Ruinstars, each designed around specific factions and their rivalries.

Whether you're playing a quick three-mission arc or stringing multiple operations into a larger campaign, these scenarios bring new life and variety to your battles.

Use them as written, adapt them to your campaign, or draw inspiration to create your own.

Hegemony vs Outer Claim

The Outer Claim plots a devastating terror strike, assembling explosives and preparing to unleash them upon the Hegemony. The Hegemony must intercept, contain, and dismantle the threat before the rebellion's strike shakes the sector.

FROM THE ARCHIVES OF THE WARFRONT

"Records tell us that history turns not on grand crusades, but on knife fights in forgotten ruins. A convoy lost. A leader enthralled. A shrine defiled. These are the sparks that ignite empires, the stains that never wash clean. Each squad is a thread in the weave of destiny, each skirmish a test of survival. Do not mistake these operations for small affairs; they are the crucibles where factions rise or die."
